

GOULD AND SAGE SEE THE MAYOR.

PLANS OF RAPID TRANSIT DISCUSSED—SCHEME FOR A FOUR-TRACK ROAD. George W. Gould and Russell Sage held a conference with Mayor Strong yesterday regarding the plan of rapid transit for this city.

The Mayor said that the subject was talked over generally, but no specific plan was broached or submitted. "The Mayor wanted me first to explain what rapid transit is," said Mr. Gould.

"Does he understand now?" was asked. "Well, I can't say that as yet the Gould-Sage system has not submitted any plans to the Mayor," said Mr. Gould.

One of the chief changes to be urged by the syndicate is for the establishment of a four-track system throughout the city. This system, it was pointed out, could be secured at the tracks inside the city limits.

At the moment their horse was turned to cross the downtown track, cable-car No. 36 shot into view, nosing and without slackening speed, according to stories of eyewitnesses.

McCormack drew back his horse with a suddenness that made the animal almost rear on his hind legs, but not a second too soon.

horse, and when the car overturned his wagon he was thrown into the street, almost under the wheel. He was bruised on the head.

The force of the car pushing over the wagon was so great that the horse was thrown off his feet and fell on his side. In a moment several policemen were on the scene to keep back the swelling crowd and to extract the young driver from his predicament.

McCormack obtained the names of several witnesses refusing to stop when his car had tilted the wagon. He pushed up more than a score, but it was overturned completely.
